CERTIFIED PROFESSIONAL ATTRIBUTES ANALYST

CPAA is based on the science of Axiology. Axiology is a mathematically accurate science that objectively identifies how one's mind analyses and interprets our experiences, how we are most likely to react in any given situation and the patterns we use to make judgments. By translating the patterns into quantitative measurements and scores, its application to the business environment provides an effective personal assessment tool. The result is an accurate ranking of personal talent skills describing individual potential for performance.

This certification is through Target Training International, USA and Turning Point, India.
